Did you know

We are living longer and as a nation getting older. In 1984 Australia had 120,862 people aged 85+. Today we have 455,390 and by 2044 there will be 1,655,997. In Australia there are 4.2 million people living with a disability. There is a national skill shortage to service this increasing number of people.

What this means for you?

With the increase in people living longer we will have an increased demand for care and support services. This means that there are more employment opportunities in Aged Care, Health and Community Services.

How many more jobs?

Over the next 5 years 1 in 4 of all new jobs created will be in Aged Care, Health and Community Services. There is also a strong need for improved business, management and leadership skills, to respond to the need for managers to lead their organisations through change.

What types of jobs and occupations are increasing?

The fastest growing occupations over the next 5 years will be:

• Support Workers
• Early Childhood Care and Education
• Medical Administration, Leadership & Management
• Registered Nurses
• Welfare Support Workers
• Social Work
• Counsellors

Reference: Community Services and Health Industry Skills Council, 2014

Our students achieve:

93% of our students complete their course and 90% find employment within 3 months of completing their training with SGSCC. We organise work placement for students as part of their course and many of our students are offered casual roles after completing 3 weeks of work placement.
